The reports of men having unprotected 'sex roulette' parties are unconfirmed

In the gay news cycle recently there have been various headlines saying things like GAY MEN ENGAGING IN HIV PARTIES and SECRET PARTY UNDERWORLD OF GAY MEN PLAYING HIV ROULETTE. The reports claimed that gay men have started organizing masked sex parties, where everyone has unprotected sex, and one of the participants is HIV positive. It turns out this is based on something that one doctor from Barcelona said, in reference to something a patient told him once. The identity of the patient was never confirmed, and neither was the truth of the statement.

51 Muslim states have requested LGBT people be banned from the UN AIDS conference

Next month the world's biggest conference on the AIDS crisis takes place at the UN head office in New York. Unbelievably, fifty-one Muslim states are protesting the inclusion of LGBT people. Egypt sent a letter to the UN on behalf of all of them, stating LGBT people should not be allowed to attend, but not providing a reason why. Britain's deputy UN ambassador Peter Wilson is condemning the move. "If you're serious about getting to zero (AIDS cases), then it's vital to include all communities," he said. "It's wrong to block access to the U.N. for transgender organizations and gay organizations that have every right to participate in this important discussion."

Church Of Scotland votes in favour of same sex marriage for clergy

339 voted in favour, while 215 voted against the bill which will see marriage becoming possible for gay ministers.

It's much more progressive than the English church, where it's still illegal for gay clergy to have sex. The director of Stonewall Colin Macfarlane said "Today's result is great news. Empowering ministers to live their lives with honesty and integrity send a powerful signal to faith communities and society as a whole."

BISI ALIMI

Bisi Alimi is one of the civil rights heroes of modern times.

With a television interview that scandalized a nation, he brought gay visibility into the mainstream in a country where homosexuality is punishable by death.

Now he's living in London, continuing his mission to change the face of LGBT rights in Nigeria. Dylan Jones met him on the South Bank and they talked racism on the scene, underwear and the price of his sudden fame.

So tell me some of your amazing story Bisi. You're famous in Nigeria aren't you? Why is that?

My fame in Nigeria is something I often call an accident, and in a way, a very good one. I studied Theatre Arts at university, because all I wanted in life was to be an actor. Growing up, I was involved in the school dramatics society. It was one of the few places in the world I felt safe, considering I was struggling with my sexuality in Nigeria.

So it was really a dream come true when I was given admission to study drama in one of Nigeria's top universities. Then at the end of my studies, certain events happened that changed the course of my life. I became very political in school, and that came with campus media scrutiny. It was brutal. My life was x-rayed and everything put in the open. As this was going on, I struck gold by getting cast for a leading role in a television soap, with prime time allocation, so that event intensified the pressure but gave me the career I dreamt of as a little boy. I've had my Oscar speech written since I was like 20!

I came out as gay on the biggest television talk show in Nigeria with millions of viewers. I was just trying to save myself and save my soul. Many people have labeled my coming out as groundbreaking and I won't deny that. I mean I was the first person to openly come out as gay on national television in Nigeria, but I keep telling people this title was never at the back of my mind. I attempted my first suicide when I was 17. This started one of the biggest crises in my life, and sitting on the sofa on that show 12 years later, I was just trying to rescue myself. But I'm happy with what happened. I gave so many young people in Nigeria hope for a better future.

When did you come to London? What do you think of it?

I first came to London in 2007, for the CHAP conference, for gay men with HIV. It was the first time I'd actually been with gay men from all walks of life. It was so amazing and I was like a kid in a candy store. I had never seen anything like it. I mean, things like that don't happen where I come from, so it was empowering.

I went back after the conference, energised and really ready to do a lot for the gay men in Nigeria and raise awareness around HIV. I was causing trouble when I was here though! I did an interview with the BBC that really didn't go down well with the Nigerian government. By that time, Nigeria had introduced the "Anti Same Sex Marriage Prohibition bill"; it was first introduced in 2006 as a reaction to my coming out, and an attempt to curb the spill over effect.

So going back home was hard. The backlash was out of this world. I was arrested, put in detention, harassed, assaulted. And my friends suffered as well. I need to make clear here that these things were already happening to me since my coming out, but it got really bad after I got back from the UK. Loads of Nigerians listened to the interview on BBC Africa.

On the evening of the 9th April 2007, my house was broken into and I was almost killed. My then boyfriend and I endured over two hours of real torture. At one point, I felt that was it. I sincerely thought I had no chance of surviving, but I did. There was an unintended intervention from my neighbour and that's why I'm here to talk about this experience today. Without that, honestly I have no idea.

So, the next plan for me was to run out of the country. That was the only option I had then and I did. So moved to the UK finally on April 12th 2007.

I love London. It's become home for me and it's been an amazing home. I travel around the world and I'll be honest, there's no place in the world like London. Don't get me wrong, I love the fast-paced, street smart life of Lagos. I miss that. I also love the peacefulness of Zurich and Lurcen where I spend most of my summer holidays. But I think in London, I have the pleasure of the mixture of both. You can get the full madness of Lagos and New York either in Peckham or Knightsbridge and Oxford Circus, and just around the corner from these active areas are lovely cool and peaceful places with green parks and great people with amazing smiles hanging around. You just can't find that anywhere.

What are your experiences on the scene has a black man?

I've talked about my experience as a black gay man on the scene many times. I'll be honest, and I won't say it's all what we have read. Is there racism on the scene? YES! There's also sexism and transphobia. I think sometimes we forget that the gay community is made up of human beings with views, ideologies and principles like the heterosexuals. I do understand that the reason we expect so much for the community is because we have faced historic discrimination and stigma and we should know better.

My personal experience has been mixed really. I have experienced extreme racism on the scene. I remembered two events clearly and I think they played a role in my withdrawing from the gay scene. The first time, I was out in Manchester once with a friend, and he stopped to talk to his friends while I went on. Then I got to the door and the doorman wouldn't let me in. He kept saying "do you know this is a gay bar?", and I was like, yes I know, why do you think I'm on Canal Street at 1am? Then he told me it was membership only. I'd been to that place with my friends before and never heard anyone asking for membership card. Then, my white friend came and then, just like that, we were allowed in, no questions asked.

The second incident was when I was out at London Pride and a guy grabbed my crotch.

I was so upset, I almost slapped him. Then I confronted him, I was fuming, then he said "oh suck it up, I was just doing you a favour, all black guys like it". I just feel less of human. I know we deny the impact of sexual harassment on the gay scene. Most of it is centred around Black and minority ethnic group based on "othering" and an image of sexual expectation created by the media based on race.

You're getting married in November! Tell us about your wedding and your fiancé.

Well it's very exciting! I mean, I'm a boy from Nigeria, where I could be a 14 year jail sentence for even thinking of such an idea, so it's really exciting. My wedding is going to be a fusion of Nigeria, Scotland and Australia. My fiancé is from Australia and we want represent the different parts of us that we cherish.

Who would be your dream wedding guests?

I'd be happy to have Jeremy Corbyn at my wedding really. Maybe he's going to read this and make that dream come true. I love Ashley Jensen from Extras too....she's super cool and looking at her just makes me laugh. So please can you get her as well? And I mean who wouldn't want Michelle Obama at his wedding? But to come down to earth, I would have loved to have my family there but it's a shame they wont be there.

Who in the world do you look up to the most?

Desmond Tutu... I love that man. Then Bayard Rustin. His life story has become the engine for my life. Knowing that as far back as the 1950s America, there was a black gay man. Not only that, he was one of the biggest brains behind the civil rights movement in the US and the planner of March on Washington for jobs, and has a great input into that evergreen phrase "I have A Dream". I'm not sure why he's not more known. It's a shame that in the LGBT world his race has relegated him to the background and in the black world, his sexuality has turned him to an outcast. Then there is James Baldwin. If Rustin informed my activism and self-awareness as a black gay man, Baldwin helped to establish it. Then there is Audrey Lorde and Maya Angelou. Well you will see a reoccurring theme here, most of the people I look up are not here anymore, apart from Desmond Tutu. This just says a lot about the world we live in now.

What's your most treasured possession?

I love to collect Andrew Christian underwear (face palm). I love it! I love the sexiness of the cuts. I have a serious obsession for the underwear and I have a collection of the naked edition. Very sexual and sensual...have I said too much now?

Not at all! It leads well into my next question...tell me something naughty you did recently.

A group of Chinese men once stopped in around Oxford Circus, and it was in the evening. I think it was a Saturday night and they said they really wanted to go to a club but they wanted a club where there are girls because they have been informed that clubs in London are a bit dodgy. So I told them to try Hard On.

I came out as gay on the biggest television talk show in Nigeria with millions of viewers. I was just trying to save myself and save my soul.

Tell me something nice you did recently.

Last year with the support of friends, I started The Bisi Alimi Foundation. This was my own small way of contributing to changing the homophobic landscape in Nigeria. The foundation is a think tank and it will be contributing to the research landscape in Nigeria. We are working really hard to use research, policy and advocacy to change hearts and minds in Nigeria. We have been working really hard and we've had a lot of support. If your readers want to know more, they can visit, www.bisialimifoundation.org. Like I said, Lagos is an amazing place and I really wish it can also be a place where people can visit without fear.

What advice would you give to young LGBT people living in Nigeria right now?

Nigeria as a country is going through a very difficult time at the moment, and it's a pity that the group that has been singled out to bear the burden of this is the LGBT group with the introduction of the Anti Same Sex Prohibition Act 2013, that was signed in 2013. This law means LGBT people could go to jail for 14 years in Nigeria. I just want Nigeria LGBT community to know its going to get better. Change always happens and it will happen in Nigeria, but it will happen with hard work and unity, nothing comes good from division and by giving up.

What are your plans for the future?

I want to work more on the Bisi Alimi Foundation so I can one day take my husband and my family to Nigeria to visit where I come from. Mostly importantly though, I'm just going to stay fabulous.

Garden Of Eden

As The Glory's press officer Jack Cullen once so eloquently said on Twitter - "It's Gwen Stefani featuring Eve, not Adam and Eve!" We can see why he's their press officer, because it's a perfectly suited quote to accompany The Glory's GARDEN OF EDEN party! In honour of bank holiday, The Glory are transforming into a paradise, a paragon, a queer utopia... a miracle-laded oasis of turquoise waterfalls and round, rosy apples. Or at least, John Sizzle's turquoise cape, and round, rosy arses. Basically the same thing. As well as Sizzle there'll be Terry Vietheer spinning tunes, and A Man To Pet spinning away from you.

GARDEN OF EDEN

The Glory, 281 Kingsland Road, E2 8AS. 9pm - 2am.
Free before 10pm, £5 after.

Friday 27th May

A:M Black Party

A:M is the best way to end your week and start your weekend, with twelve hours, six DJs and two rooms! Doors open at 11pm on Friday night, and the party continues all the way until 11am on Saturday morning. A:M has cemented itself as one of London's most sought-after nightlife destinations!

Fire, 6A South Lambeth Road, SW8 1SP.
11pm - 11am.
Adv tickets £8, or £13 OTD.

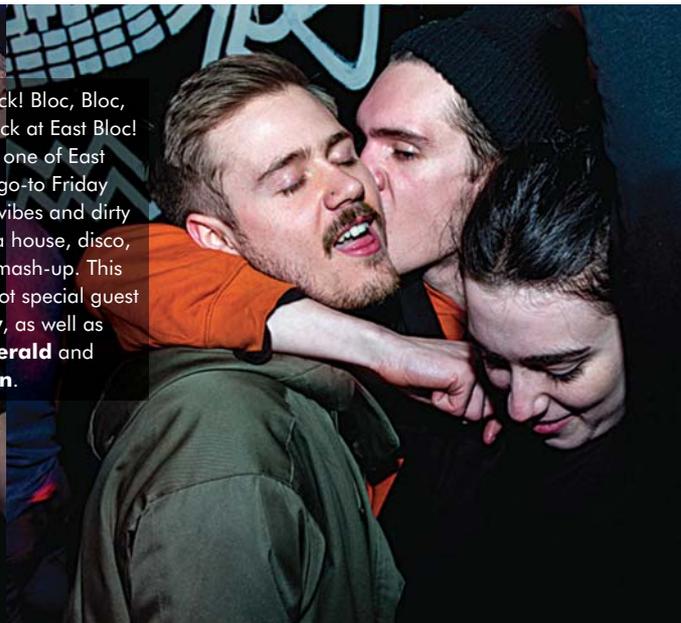

Friday 27th May

Le Cock

Cock, cock, cock! Bloc, Bloc, Bloc! It's Le Cock at East Bloc! Fast becoming one of East London's best go-to Friday nights, it's fun vibes and dirty dancing, with a house, disco, pop and italo mash-up. This week they've got special guest DJ, W Jeremy, as well as Martyn Fitzgerald and Jeffrey Hinton.

East Bloc, 217 City Road, EC1V 1JN. 11pm - 6am.
£5 before 12.30, then £10.

Friday 27th May
Twisted

This Friday Paul Coals bring together cutting edge music and dark, sexy underground vibes to create notorious fetish party Twisted! It's aimed at pretty much anyone into kink and fetish, from lascivious leather men to jockstrap-clad jocks. They're putting on live shows and there's a dresscode. Leather, rubber, sports, industrial, uniform or naked! So don't wear a button-up shirt!

The Hoist, Arches 47b and 47c,
South Lambeth Road, SW8 1SR.
10pm – 3am.

Friday 27th April
Savage

Savage is one of the city's most exciting new nights! Well it's not new anymore actually, it's quite well-established. It all kicks off at Metropolis Gentlemen's Club, with drag queens sliding down poles, fashionable twinks gyrating on each other, drinks being spilt on leather...it's bloody LIT! Yes!

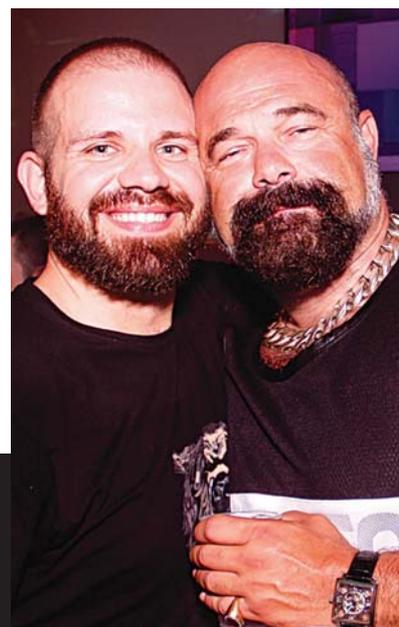

Metropolis Gentlemen's Club, 235 Cambridge Heath Road, E2 9NN.
11pm – 5am. £5.

Saturday 28th May
Bear Pride

GRRR!! If you go down to XXL on Saturday you're in for...BEAR PRIDE! XXL is quite beary anyway, so it'll be SUPER beary for their Bear Pride celebrations. Bears are great. They love a dance, they love a beer, they love a croissant. And it'll be so major at XXL, it's a bear cave of sonorous dancing delights! Unmissable! Wayne G will be on the decks as always! Grrr!

Pulse Nightclub,
1 Invicta Plaza, SE1 9UF.
10pm – 7am. £8 for members,
£15 for guests.

Saturday 28th May

Lazertitz

It's lazars! It's tits! IT'S LAZERTITZ! Yes! One of Dalston Superstore's most debaucherous, celestial parties. With neon and lights and neon lights! We love old D-Swizzle, and it's particularly fun on their Lazertitz nights. They've super-star lesbian DJ Hannah Holland on the decks, as well as Bica, Cathal and Violet, and The New Sins' Lou Hayter.

LAZERTITZ

Dalston Superstore, 117 Kingsland High Street, E8 2PB.
9pm - 4am.

Saturday 28th May

R & She

Trapeze, 89 Great Eastern Street, EC2A 3HX.
10pm - 3:30am. £4 before 11pm, £7 after.

QBoy

R & She are at a new, bigger venue this time around, because they were so popular last time that it was packed! They've moved to super trendy Old Street haunt Trapeze Bar. Hooray! R & She is so major, it's a perfect night of dancing to hip-hop hits from the 90's and beyond. With DJs Neil Prince and QBoy.

R & She

Saturday 28th May

Sexcircus

Peto Coast

Sexcircus is coming to London! *Cracks whip*. Yes! For the whole of this weekend a salacious circus of debauchery will be descending on the capital. The main event is the Sexcircus Main Party at Fire on Saturday. It'll be dirty, sexy, fetishy fun. Just totally mad and brilliant. They've got a host of performers including Peto Coast, who is our absolute fave! So sexy. So yeah, dig out your jock strap and get down to Fire.

Goran

Antonio Mirade

Fire Nightclub, 39 Parry Street, SW8 1RT. 11pm - 6am. You can buy a Sexcircus Weekender ticket that'll get you entry to all events across the whole weekend, from £38.50. Or if you just fancy the main event at Fire, it's £22. Go to orangenation.co.uk for more info.

Sports Bolt is back at Vauxhall's notorious den of debauchery, The Hoist! It's a new sportswear fetish night! You can wander around to the techno trance, or get down and dirty with some footie-kitted lads. Hot! It's a very strict dress code, but you can turn up in anything from trackies to full wrestling gear, so the world's your oyster!

The Hoist, Arches 47b and 47c, South Lambeth Road, SW8 1SR.
10pm - 4am. £15.

Sunday 29th May

Brut Bank Holiday Bearnanza

Those burly beary Brut boys are back for husky, hairy hedonism! This preview is all about alliteration! Apparently. Brut's aesthetic is all about urban, gritty sexiness. Big, deep intense beats on the soundsystem, and big, deep, intense stares at people across the dancefloor. It's held at one of the best venues in London too. The Steel Yard is the pinnacle of threateningly sexy city vibes, perfect for an event like Brut. Get on board bitches.

The Steel Yard, All Hallows Lane, EC4R 3UL. 10pm - 6am. Adv tickets £15.

Sunday 29th May

Matinee

In honour of the Sexcircus weekend, Matinee is making its debut at The Coronet in Elephant and Castle, for a sexy, seductive and excessive show! They've got ice cannons, confetti, pyrotechnics, performers! It's gonna be breathtaking! They're making it a weekend affair too. The one at the Coronet is Matinee Pervert on Sunday 29th May, and then beforehand they're kicking things off with their Matinee Terrace Party, a daytime event at Ministry of Sound. A host of the scene's best DJs will be doing sets across both events, to a crowd that'll probably be the hottest in London. That's what we like to hear!

Matinee Terrace Party: Ministry of Sound, 103 Gaunt Street, SE1 6DP.
Midday - 9:30pm.

Matinee Pervert: The Coronet, 28 New Kent Road, SE1 6TJ. 9pm - 7am.

SEX CIRCUS WEEKENDER

So in case you've been living under Vauxhall Bridge for the last two weeks and haven't heard...SEX CIRCUS IS COMING TO LONDON!

Basically, SexCircus is the ultimate in gay hedonism and debauchery. We thought OUR lives were hot and crazy, and then we saw the Sex Circus poster.

Anyway this Bank Holiday weekend, SexCircus is descending on our mad, horny city, and making it even more mad and horny! They've got a host of massive events at a host of massive venues over three days.

They're giving you a big leather-booted kickstart on Friday with their Welcome Party at the dusky burly men's haunt Comptons in Soho. There's an A:M at Protocol party at Fire too, then things really get going on Saturday with the Main Event at Fire. After that it's straight on to Beyond Erotica until early afternoon on Sunday.

THEN (best have a Jägerbomb or two), it's Matinee Pervert at Elephant & Castle's iconic Coronet Theatre, promising to be a visual and sexual feast of delights.

This is the party of the season. Rippling muscle-bound adonises, international porn stars, the scene's best DJs, and a rip-roaring sex-fueled thrill ride across the city's most well-regarded nightclubs.

We spoke to two of the event's biggest stars – gay porn couple Logan Moore and Josh Rider – about their plans for the weekend, what it's like being a couple in porn, and er...Meryl Streep.

Logan Moore & Josh Rider

Hey guys! So are you excited for the SexCircus weekender?

L&J: Yes we're both really excited! After talking for so long about SexCircus, we're itching to get up on the stage. It's going to be an awesome weekend.

What delicious treats do you have planned?

J: We aren't going to reveal anything just yet.

L: If you want to find out, then come see us in the VIP room.

What's it like being a gay porn couple?

L: It's so amazing to get to travel with your partner and share the same experiences. We have a lot of adventures and shows coming up this year all over the world, which is so exciting for the both of us.

J: And what's not horny about seeing your boyfriend getting fucked by a hot guy on camera!

Do you do the same stuff on camera as off, or do you Meryl

A RIP-ROARING SEX-FUELED THRILL RIDE ACROSS THE CITY'S MOST WELL-REGARDED NIGHTCLUBS.

Streep it up a bit for the cameras?
 L: On film everything is very exaggerated and angled for the camera.
 J: Yeah, and when we're off camera it's full of passion and it's a lot more relaxed and natural.

If you guys could do a threesome scene with any celebrity, who would it be?
 L: Jennifer Lopez all day!
 J: Ultimate woman Crush for both of us.

Where's the best location you've shot together?
 L: In each other's arses!
 J: Haha it's our favourite location to shoot.

We know what you get up to when you're feeling naughty, but what about the rest of the time?! Ariana Grande and chill?
 L: because we're so busy it's nice to relax with each other in bed and watch movies, and see our friends.
 J: Yeah, and Logan loves to game on the PlayStation. Soon he'll probably be playing while we fuck. It's that hard to tear him away.

What do you make of the London scene?
 L & J : it's fun it's naughty and we love it .

What part of SexCircus are you looking forward to the most?
 L: Performing with my husband.
 J : it's funny because we actually said that at the same time.

XXL Bear Pride

It's London's biggest, hairiest Pride this weekend...BEAR PRIDE! Hooray!
We spoke to HBIC (Head Bear In Charge) Mark Ames to get the lowdown.

It's Bear Pride again! Last year you had the lovely Ben Cohen in attendance. What can we expect from this year?

It's a full on celebration of everything big, beary and buff. The bear scene is about fun and friendliness and food, and there will be food for all!

What is it about the Bear community that makes it so inclusive?

It's unexplainable. It's like the uncool are cool because when you don't give a fuck, no one can stop you.

What makes you proud to be a bear?

It's the one scene you can be honest about who and what you are!

What makes XXL the best bear event in London?

Practice, patience, perfection soon becomes pastime when expecting excellence. And my staff know I really don't like letting the individual down, let alone the crowd!

Do you have to be a bear to celebrate Bear Pride?

No, but you do need to be able to like being with us or why bother! I've barred precious prats making fun of others and will do it again, as the club doesn't need that type!

Who's the best bear of them all?

The one who has my heart, but he's a bad one too. I like a cheeky smile and the devil's glint in his eye gets me every time he smiles and has done for the last 11 years.

Mark Ames

XXL presents Bear Pride is on Saturday 28th May at Pulse Nightclub, 1 Invicta Plaza, SE1 9UF. 10pm – 7am. £15 for guests, £8 for members.

SNAX @ Les Poppeurs

TOP TEN

1) Tell us who you are in one juicy sentence.

I'm Snax. I'm a planet, and you're my moon.

2) What kind of music do you play?

Funkpopgroovehousedisco...and stuff from my 45 collection.

3) And what can people expect from your next set?

Electronic soul, loose disco, vocals, synths and drum machines.

1. One Good Thing feat. Adam Joseph – Box Office Poison

This is me under my house production persona. Teamed up with the soul stylings of Adam Joseph, it's fair to say we created the jam of the summer.

2. DTNA - Smokey

Track down this recently reissued lost classic of gay LA sleaze. The whole album is a must!

3. The 3.01 Chug – Beat Boy

Fierce rework of Rene & Angela on the always great comp series Trash The Wax.

4. I Wish – Vosper $ Posolo

These queens work.

5. I Am Disco (BonomoLeMagass remix) – Manhooker

Did this mix with my production partner in crime Mavin, aka one half of Manhooker. Look out for his solo release soon!

6. Gigolo – Mary Wells

Discovered this monster disco track recently and it's a constant in my sets now.

7. Music Fills The Airx – Severino & Farley feat. Roy Inc

New instant classic from the Italian Stallion of Horse Meat Disco fame and co.

8. All Of Me For All Of You – 9.9

One of the aforementioned 45's from my collection.

9. Irresistible Bitch – Prince

How can I pick just one after what's happened? The experimentation and tension on this track always gets me.

10. I Don't Want To Lose Your Love – The Emotions

This was played at my wedding!

SNAX is DJing at Les Poppeurs on Saturday 4th June at Dalston Superstore, 117 Kingsland High Street, E8 2PB.

SAVAGE

Savage. Savage, Savage, Savage.
 What are we going to do with you?!
 The world is a better place with Savage.
 You know what actually, the world would be a better place if everyone had a night out at Savage!

Donald Trump doesn't need votes, or money, or xenophobic sensibilities. HE JUST NEEDS A NIGHT OUT AT SAVAGE. Azealia Banks doesn't need Twitter, or cultural appropriation, or record labels. SHE JUST NEEDS A NIGHT OUT AT SAVAGE. Margaret Thatcher doesn't need the Falkland Islands, or sleep, or a new wig. SHE. JUST. NEEDS. A. NIGHT. OUT. AT. SAVAGE.

Also, anyone who's moaning about the gay scene in London dying can piss RIGHT off. How can you say the London gay scene is dying, when every weekend, on Friday and Saturday night, a three floor dance/drag/ripper sensation is going OFF and getting LIT.

Something that adds to the beauty of Savage, is that during the week it's a straight strip club. If only those businessmen called

Clive knew that in 24 hours a drag queen would be licking tequila off the seat right where he was sitting! Straight businessmen would probably love the Savage queens actually. He loves to switch it up, does our Clive. Hey Clive! *Waves*

Anyway, everyone's going to Savage these days. We hear Kevin Spacey went dressed as Princess Diana. We hear Sarah Palin went dressed as Sarah Palin. We hear Lindsay Lohan popped in on her way to an after-party. That last one might actually be true, there are unconfirmed reports. And in QX, unconfirmed reports are GOOD ENOUGH. What?! Don't look at us like that. We're not the Sunday fucking Times. Put on a wig, down a bottle of Smirnoff Ice, get in an Uber to Savage, and get a LIFE.

Savage is every Friday and Saturday at Metropolis Gentleman's Club, 234 Cambridge Heath Road, E2 9NN. 11pm - late, £5 entry.

R & SHE

QUEER HIP-HOP KIDS
 R & She have long since established themselves as one of the best gay nights in the city! Their last event was their fourth birthday and it was testament to how popular they were. It was LIT! Even Destiny's Child couldn't get tickets! Well actually, Beyonce and Kelly got tickets but didn't tell Michelle #PoorMichelle
 Anyway the vibe's great and the music is fucking AWWWESOME. It's the queens of hip-hop from the 90's to now. Ciara! Queen Latifah! Eve! Lil' Kim! You haven't lived until you've danced to How Many Licks by Lil' Kim in a nightclub full of gays. This time they're BACK for a bangin' bank holiday bash and, due to the insane popularity of previous nights, they've got a bigger, roomier home at urban-chic nightlife haunt Trapeze in Old Street.

One of the biggest questions when preparing for R & She is... WHAT TO WEAR. Our advice is just go for it, don't worry about looking ridiculous or appropriating cultures. WEAR WHAT YOU WANT! This is London, everything and everyone is on-trend. Although, it seems like the 90s are making a comeback, so wear a bandana! Wear bangles! Wear camouflage trousers! Chop up some Ashanti album artwork and stick it to your t-shirt with Pritt Stick. Actually, when we said wear anything, we didn't completely mean it. Do NOT under any circumstances wear fluorescent v-neck t-shirts, or rosary beads, and DEFINITELY do not combine the two.

When you get to the *Wendy Williams voice* the CLUUUB, dive right in. Say high to DJs QBoy and Neil Prince, get yerselves a bevy (we advise a shot of tequila) and GET. DOWN. ON. IT.

NB: It's really important that you bring photo ID! They'll be checking everyone on the door and you don't want to end up getting turned away (we haven't told Michelle).

The mixed club night of Berlin's electronic music

Partystarters, nightlife connoisseurs and purveyors of the zeitgeist, Members, are moving to Egg's Apothecary, Saturday June 4th.

They've made a name for themselves as some of Berlin's most notorious party kids, and since integrated themselves into London equally gritty club scene. Berlin expat Marro started off DJing at some of East London's coolest, most-sought after events, and now he's bringing his unique take on tech-house to the Egg.

Marc Miroir (otherwise known as Paso Music) is the musical backbone behind Members and its Berlin routes. He's all about climatic build-ups, keeping the crowd on tenterhooks with his urgent, building sound.

They've also drafted in London scene DJ, gorgeous Spaniard Borja Peña, known for pioneering hot husky nights like Dish and B(e)ast, as well as creative director and resident DJ of Discosodoma, Stathis. He's the kind of leftfield electronic dance music and has played the infamous NYC Download at Glastonbury.

So to summarise, it'll be absolutely lit, and full of the hottest DJs, hosts, girls and boys in the city. You'll be there. We'll be there. EVERYONE will be there.

LET'S GET TWISTED!

Originally launched overseas by international DJ and Promoter, Paul Coals, TWISTED finally came to London in January. The night proved so popular that it's now a regular monthly fixture at the Hoist.

QX caught up with Paul to find out where he's been and why it's taken him so long to bring TWISTED to London...

So Paul, what sort of guys go to TWISTED?

To be honest, truly all sorts and all ages. We've been drawing a great crowd of guys into leather, rubber, sports gear, military, punk, etc. Yes, we've got our leather daddies, muscle bears, rubber guys, pups and many more, but what's we've experienced at The Hoist is that TWISTED is also pulling a younger crowd, maybe some of the people who usually wouldn't usually think of going to The Hoist. Quite a few people have told us that the music and general atmosphere has done that.

You have some top DJs lined up. Do you think music is important at fetish nights?

Definitely...the music is a key part of the TWISTED experience. Some of our DJs have included, alongside myself, for example, DJ Jesus Pelayo from Spain, the winner of San Francisco Folsom's 'Real Bad 2015' party, international, award winning fetish DJ, remixer and producer Jack Chang and renowned Kink.com and Boundgods.com porn star Spencer Reed! So many people have commented on the music at our recent events in London. In the next few months we have various guest DJs coming up, including Ron Hamelin (Montreal), Corey Craig (NYC), Ben Manson (Pari) and Andre Stan (Belgium) and so on.

What sort of pervy floor shows can we expect?

We've had various things going on - it's so much fun!! Amongst others, there have been some great performances by Justin West and Danny Cox, two of Triga's rugby and leather bear porn stars. It sets a great vibe for everything else going on during the night ahead. We've had erotic art installations... think electro, suspension and bondage. And we have loads of other performances planned for the future.

So, when's the next TWISTED?

The next TWISTED in London will be held on Friday 29th May at The Hoist in Vauxhall.

As we wrote this interview, we were informed that Twisted are doing fifteen more dates in London over the coming months. Great news!

FOLLOWING THE NEWS THAT EAGLE LONDON had secured its lease for the next decade and beyond, they decided to ramp things up with a revamp. They've had a lick of paint and they've got a brand new look! As the home of Horse Meat Disco and other iconic London gay nights, they're one of the best-loved establishments around, and we're totes happy that they've cemented themselves safely for years to come.

We spoke to the Eagle's owner Mark Oakley, and he gave us the lowdown on the best stuff to see and do at one of South London's best-known gay watering holes.

10 THINGS YOU HAVE TO SEE AND DO AT EAGLE LONDON

- 1. Horse Meat Disco Every Sunday has a line up of some of THE Worlds finest DJs and producers joining residents Jim Stanton, James Hillard Luke Howard & Severino Panzetta who host this Sunday Legend.
- 2. Men Inc. Fridays continue to attract a wide choice of Hunks, Chunks, Bears, Leather Men and all in between who enjoy the soundtrack to your weekend provided by our exclusive residents and guests.
- 3. Our ALL new Eagle Saturday line up including Figo from Severino and Fanar with their hand picked guests playing a great big Saturday night party soundtrack and our host Maxi Moore will be on hand to get your party started. We are delighted to confirm Eagle Bears will host the world famous Berracuda every second Saturday and the disco mash up kings Midnight Riot will be launching in July and other surprises to be announced.
- 4. Our ALL new bar lounge experience will be open weekday nights, including a fantastic value choice of early bird drink offers sure to wet your appetite.
- 5. We are super excited to launch Nitrate Cinema evenings in association with The Cinema Museum and VITO Project every Wednesday with exclusive screenings of a range of LGBTQ inspired or provocative films and shorts. We will be offering aspiring film makers to take part in our NITRATE SHORTS competition where a cash prize and premier screening of the work will be the prize, Sean McGovern our host and promoter will be announcing all the details,so get filming!
- 6. For many years it has been the desire and ambition of our partner Ian to source and find the best possible sound system that will satisfy and enhance all the different events we offer, FUNKTION ONE was the answer and we have worked with Sound Services to bring this experience to life at Eagle London. This is our thank you to our partners Horse Meat Disco's Jim Stanton and James Hillard, and they LOVE it!
- 7. Our famous beer garden bar is also getting a makeover with the introduction of our delicious new craft beer range served ice cold on draft and a choice range of summer ciders and cocktails.
- 8. A fully upgraded beer supply system offering the latest, crispest & cleanest pint every time. Also upgraded is our air conditioning system that will ensure a comfortable environment for every occasion.
- 9. All new lounge seated areas to enjoy our widest selection of new and traditional drink products including a choice selection of craft beers and wines from around the world.
- 10. Last but not least everyone will enjoy a warm friendly welcome from our Managers Lee Thomas, Luis Buisto, Alan Stuart and their team.

It doesn't take a full moon to bring a sloth of bears out to XXL but this time was a full moon, so the bear cave was extra crazy and full to capacity this past Saturday night. Everyone loves a big cuddly bear and there were plenty to choose from this week, the cave was pretty heaving and with all that hot body heat it was definitely tops off all night! Of course our loveable king bears were taking care of us on their musical thrones, namely Joe Egg and David Robson in the pop arch and the Baloo of the bear cave DJ Christian M Morris was keeping it pumped and flowing in the main arch with help from daddy DJ Alex Logan. XXL's lighting cub had it on point as well this week, an amazing spectacle of light and Co2 canons! See you next time!

Thursdays in Vauxhall
have recently had a resurgence as Onyx has returned to the scene and taken up residence in the room next door to Gravity making for the one of the most eclectic double-headers going. We popped along last week where we found the Onyx room playing dance floor anthems, club classics and vocal house floor-fillers courtesy of the terrible two-some Jason Price and Matt Unique. Next door in Gravity, Charlie Holland gave us a classic house set before Fat Tony brought it bang up to date and a little bit dirtier. With a crowd drawn from right across the capital and equally as eclectic as the music, Gravity and Onyx at Protocol are definitely putting the fun put back into Thursday night/Friday morning afterhours!

London's longest running

Sunday dance destination is growing week after week with its new sound, new look and new vibe courtesy of Steven Artis. Indeed, as the ad says, the future's bright, the future's Orange. This week's fruit stalls featured Chris Parker on the decks in the Boombox Disco Lounge spinning disco house and Alex Georgiou, Nik Denton and Gonzalo in the main room with classic, vocal and tech house. Again the main room was decorated with more ornaments than a dress from Big Fat Gypsy Weddings, all gleaned from Closet Artis no doubt, while a particularly young and buff crowd cavorted under the LED ceiling. A personal highlight was the sight of Glendora twirling her wig around her head like a cow girl with a lasso. She's no Annie Oakley but she does always get her man. Fierce.

After a three week hiatus, Eagle London came back with a BOOM! last Friday at their Men Inc. launch party. Not just a lick of dulux and a new drape 60 minute makeover like some venue refurb, Eagle have had a full-on strip-it-back-and-make-it-gorgeous, and they have succeeded by the bucket load. The central bar is still there but has been remodelled to ensure uninterrupted service from all sides, but the main change is to the venue itself which has been opened up and stripped back to light brick giving it the feel of a New York West Side bar. It looks and feels much bigger and more airy with loads of room to cruise and mingle, subtle lighting and oh, that new sound system – just WOW. Opening night jocks Dan Murphy, Mark Loverush and Sugarbear took it for a test drive and the L plates were soon off as we careered around an aural rollercoaster that encompassed every decade from the 60s onwards. The opening night crowd of leathermen and others packed in to see the new girl's outfit, and no one was disappointed. New Eagle London. Amazing. Gorgeous. Cruisy. Home.

“Eagle have had a full-on strip-it-back-and-make-it-gorgeous.”

The Hostess with the mostness born of rubber and kink, Suzi Krueger’s nighttime visions are full of darkness and sin, however, these visions aren’t nightmares, but very wet dreams. Hard On celebrates it’s final use of club UNION in Vauxhall with a sportswear party that had us all working up quite a sweat! Beautiful boys, masc men, and some dangerously hot porn stars brought that lycra vibe which got our muscles pumping harder and harder while sexy sounds from DJ Brent Nicholls and Tony Bruno kept the rhythm going. Every dream has a good bit, and this became one we’d never forget with the sight of no less than six porn stars putting on one of hell of a show on the stage space. Fists were going somewhere, and it wasn’t in the air! We’re looking forward to another Wetdream on Hard On Street when Hard On Sexcircus hots up at FIRE on Saturday 28th of May.

"It was an important night for the community."

It's the night of the rubber calendar we've all been waiting for! The night of Mr Hoist Rubber 2016 has come all over us and gone, leaving one lucky man holding the only rubber title available in the UK. With a £500 Expectations voucher, and the opportunity to be the UK rubber ambassador up for grabs, it was an important night for the community, and this year saw 7 contestants enter. Asked their name, their best bit of gear and what they'd do with the title, Rob Bough won the the most amount of votes for his second year in row making him our Mr Hoist Rubber 2016! Commiserations to 2nd and 3rd place winners James Harper and sexy skinhead Ivan. In times like this when our rubber scene is under threat from so many sources, it's important we choose a figure we trust to keep its latex seams together. Cheers to you Rob!

BackCOUNTER

Arch 50, 7-11 South Lambeth Place, Vauxhall, SW8 1SP

Vauxhall's home of dinner and debauchery BackCOUNTER is in full swing every night of the week. It's the place to see and be seen, the home of London's gay glitterati, twitterati and paparazzi (when we say paparazzi, we mean Joel Ryder with a pint, but that counts). This Friday it's their popular Friday Night Fever! With a live set from DJ Chillz from 8pm-1am, and happy hour from 5-8pm.

Mandy Gap

Old Ship

17 Barnes Street, Limehouse, E14 7NW

The Old Ship is a friendly gay Limehouse watering hole, perfect for a post-work pint or a raucous Saturday night. Slide into a booth and enjoy! The crowd are non-judgy and super-friendly, so it's really nice vibes. This Saturday 28th they're playing host to the Drag Idol Final, with Mandy Gap! It's bound to be a camp, unmissable extravaganza! From 8pm.

The Two Brewers

114 Clapham High Street, Clapham, SW4 7UJ

The Brewers is Clapham's maddest, busiest gay venue! They've got everyone there, from hot hunks (there are A LOT of hunks in Clapham), to drag queens, to twinks and everyone in between! They've got a front cabaret bar that sparkles with campy, and a back dance floor for twerking and other hedonistic activities. This Friday 27th from 6pm they're hosting the Irreplace-ball in honour of Beyonce. What's she done to merit it? EXISTED, that's what she's done! There'll be loads of Beyonce music obviously, and a bunch of acts including the phenomenal Beyonce Experience, as well as Mary Mac.

City of Quebec

12 Old Quebec Street, Marylebone, W1H 7AF

Nestled down a side street near Marble Arch, and a hop, skip and a mince away from Bond Street, is one of the city's oldest gay pubs, the City of Quebec! They had a makeover a few months ago and now they're looking better than ever.

Ku Bar

30 Lisle Street, Chinatown, WC2H 7BA

Ku Bar is a slick central London urban bar, perfect for metropolitan rendez-vous and classy dates! But you already know that because you'll already have heard of Ku Bar. Everyone's heard of Ku Bar! Get down there on Sundays to see DJ, fashion muse and lady of the night Lady Lloyd spin her fave hits from the 80s, 90s and 00's. From 8:30pm.

'Write It Daaaan!' Halfway 11 Heaven had a birthday bash this past weekend. A long standing member of the drag circuit and a queen amongst queens, it was Mrs MMTV Moores 44th, Mary Poppins has nothing on this one! Living with the legendary DJ Simon Le Vans, I know that Mrs Moore has been shakin his vac for many a year, including back in the day at the Black Cap, DJ'ing and doing stints to a sell out venue on many an occasion with Regina Fong, check out the videos on You Tube dears. Since then Mrs Moore has become a well respected and well loved pillar of our community, doing turns at probably every cabaret venue in the country. So back to Halfway and the party's in full swing with Myra Dubois on stage having us all in stitches, Heather the new manager at Halfway brings out a 'cake' made entirely of doughnuts, 44 doughnuts I believe boys and girls ;-). Much to the delight of Mrs Moore who popped on stage and blew her whistle with glee. Other drag sisters that were able to make this celebration were the Vixens, Mary Mac and Rose Garden, from what I saw. Here's to another 44 sister?

Marc Almond

QUEEN BITCH BOWIE?

My Life and Work with David Bowie: Lindsay Kemp Interviewed by Marc Almond @ The Ace Hotel.

and more – permanently gender-f*cked British theatre. Think Jean Genet’s criminally sexual prose gloriously bugged by Grimm’s fairy tales, and, instantly, you’ll get teenage Bowie’s burning need to cruise, use and abuse Lindsay. Like Lady Gaga – another world-famous, cultural vampire – Bowie wanted Lindsay’s bewitching, alien sense of beauty at any price.

Which brings us to tonight’s historically important show – host Marc Almond interviewing Lindsay Kemp on his first trip to London since 2002. The Ace Hotel, understandably, is packed as tight and panting as sex on crack and Viagra, as ginger-gingham-suited Ernesto Tomasini’s falsetto take on ‘Starman’ begins. A show-stopping entrée, certainly, but the mass audience grin as Lindsay enters is radiantly mirrored by an adoring Marc Almond, himself hugely inspired by Kemp.

More instantly seductive than GHB, Lindsay’s immense, saucer-pool eyes and cossetting drawl instantly captivate complete attention. He’s shocked at the changes in London – ‘I ventured into Soho, it’s very dull, they’ve ripped out the wickedness’ – and makes one immediately regret no longer skidding on pools of random spunk. But even nearly fifty years on, he remembers meeting Bowie at Brian Epstein’s studio; ‘The door opened and the archangel Gabriel appeared’. ‘He expressed his desire to study under me immediately’ Lindsay continues, ‘but I didn’t fall on my knees until a couple of days later...’

Lindsay, then, lived in Soho’s Bateman’s Buildings – ‘David came there often’, he smirks - but the artistic bliss soon soured. On tour, Bowie shagged a female, Kemp company member, breaking Lindsay’s heart, before ‘screwing another love of his life –for all of two weeks’. No wonder Lindsay scratched his wrists in mock-suicidal despair and the girl attempted an overdose - ‘she was revived by a fireman, lucky cow!’ - but inadvertently, Lindsay inspired Bowie’s greatest, artistic triumph – Ziggy Stardust.

Ingratitude, however, never dies, and despite plotting, conceiving and designing the Ziggy shows, Lindsay was barely mentioned in 2013’s landmark David Bowie Is...exhibition. Sure, Bowie donated 500 dollars to Lindsay after Ziggy’s success - ‘Which might have been a lot, back in 1938!’ - but also, kept him waiting for three hours when they last met during 1987’s Glass Spider tour.

‘Still – speaking charitably - Bowie’s barely a footnote in Lindsay’s incomparably innovative career. Tonight, adored by a glittering host of gay celebrities, Lindsay remains the undisputed Queen of gorgeous excess, stunningly serenaded by Marc Almond’s ‘Amsterdam’ and ‘Starman’. This, darlings, is one night Bowie can’t steal from his master!

W

as David Bowie a god? The Second Cumming of a pansexual Jesus, or a fabulously indiscriminate tart shagging any available orifice? Whatever your take on Bowie, the hysterical grief provoked by his death made Britain’s mass weeping for Princess Diana seem as insignificant as the Seven Dwarves mourning Snow White!

But let’s get a sense of proportion here. No, one lick of Bowie’s dick wouldn’t make you instantly immortal – though it might, arguably, be a taste of Heaven! – but Bowie, undeniably, had genius. That, however, never stopped him being a ruthless opportunist and backstabbing bitch whenever useful. Sure, many right-on revisionists claim Bowie as a Wilde-style, gay martyr, but let’s never forget both Bowie’s later, gay denials and shameless, fascist flirtation. Remember, every idol, quite simply, remains fallible, and to quote camp classic ‘I Don’t Know How To Love Him’, Bowie was ‘just a man’.

And nobody knew fledgling, boy-genius Bowie – pop’s very own Harry Potter? – better than Lindsay Kemp, England’s most astounding theatre visionary and crucially, Bowie’s mentor. The patron saint of sacramental spunk and shamelessness, Kemp’s string of savagely beautiful shows – Salome, Flowers, The Big Parade

REVIEW: The Chemsex Monologues

WHERE TO START?

In this case it is probably best to start with Patrick Cash, the writer. Cash has an incredible knack of taking subject matter that doesn't on the surface appear to be engaging or worth investing in and turning it into something irresistibly immersive and this is not fluke. He has pulled this off consistently with The Clinic, Queers and now this piece.

Photos: Dionysis Livanis
www.artcantchangetheworld.com

IT'S BECAUSE EVERYTHING HE DOES is about people. Although technically this piece is a collection of monologues it is actually much more. The Chemsex Monologues is very ingeniously an interwoven mesh of narratives that all stream from one community. A community and a scene that Cash is quite gloriously aware of and fully understands in all its unique idiosyncrasies.

There was nothing but the truth here.

Chemsex and its recent media attention has subsequently clouded and distorted the initial motivations of people like David Stuart and 56 Dean Street, who've strived to raise awareness of the situation and provide support for the people trying to navigate it.

To quote fag hag Cath "I'm just trying to care for you".

Although our players speak of sex, cock and cum, it is never vulgar or crass. Tales of finger tips sliding over the grooves of ribs and slotting between the ridges of perfect abs was not uncomfortably sexual because it was soaked in love and peppered with romance. Gay romance at that, as Rich Watkins character confesses:

"As a modern homosexual male I might imagine myself, I realised how unused I was to public displays of intimacy with another man in daylight hours."

At several points throughout this piece the characters on stage refer to themselves or their friends whom we never meet but we see appear through the actor's skilful performances as 'nameless'. Nameless they may temporarily be, but invisible they never could be. There's something unapologetic and poignant about Cash's writing and Luke Davies' direction that gives these loveable bunch of misfits free rein and full licence to never be invisible in the story of their own lives. Something we all could learn from. We never truly are invisible in our own lives unless we pay the ultimate price of chemsex, which we all know only too well is being fatally absent from life. A powerful message in a perfect piece of theatre.

Rich Watkins opens the play and is a character I could tell was based on Pat Cash himself. A brave feat for a writer to share his own life with us so visibly. Rich's character was a calm and grounded, beautifully lucid purveyor of the proceedings.

Denholm Spurr bounded on stage in a pair of 'sex party' booty shorts. What started off as a disposable and stereotypical anecdote quickly spiralled into a beautiful and harrowing tale of lust, love, vulnerability fragile 'heros' and brotherly compassion with some unexpected iambic pentameter thrown in to galvanise the gravity of this 'G' OD.

Fag hag Cath played by Charly Flyte was oh too familiar from the off and quite easily dislikeable. She popped up at one of those gear shift moments from director Davies. But after the initial 'raised eyebrow' moment and trite chillout chat she nestled in and scratched her own surface for us to peer beneath the communal fake tan.

Matthew Hodson actually stole the show for me. This character and his charming naivety, brave heart, flamboyant fragility and older brother protectiveness was perfect. Allowing us to view this whole set up from the uninitiated's point of view, giving rise to an abundance of camp comedy. A line that stuck with me which he delivered without sensationalism was "Ecstasy from ancient Greek, meaning to be or stand outside oneself. Why do so many gay men want to be outside themselves?"

Rich Watkins returned to the stage to wrap up the experience but not before he shared one last experience which was as tragic as it was endearing.

"Already I was wondering whether this boy's beauty would save me from the intoxicating wish to dull my own shine. Perhaps he would strum the chord of happiness."

All in all this was 70 minutes of gold standard theatre. The Chemsex Monologues will make you laugh, cry, think, love, hurt and hope. There is not a single weak link in this chain.

The Chemsex Monologues is at The RVT, 372 Kennington Lane, on Saturday 11th June at 2pm. Tickets £15.

Got a Winner!

Over a hundred acts competed in this year's Pride's Got Talent all across London. The competition has gone from strength to strength in just a few years, priding itself on discovering and showcasing the widest range of cabaret variety possible. This year's overall winner was vocalist Jack Feureisen. We sent Jason Reid to have a natter with the new voice on the block...

Photos: Joel Ryder

Congratulations on winning! How was the experience of the competition?

Thank you. Straight off I was made to feel comfortable, as was everyone else. There wasn't that feeling of a competition atmosphere to be honest. We were all there for the same goal: because we all love music and performing.

I got that sense too when I was involved in the judging process.

There's a genuine sense of comradery.

Completely. You know you've made friends for life.

How long have you been singing for?

Since 2008 - when I moved to the UK from New York.

What sparked the singing bug in you?

I moved over to Wales with my mum and all that side of the family have something to do with singing. So I thought I'd try it, starting with musical theatre in school. And it just went from there really.

Watching you perform, I was struck by your range. It's very impressive.

Yeah, I guess that comes from always being obsessed with female singers like Whitney Houston back in the day, and Jessie J from more recent times. People like that have always had such an infatuation with the high range of the voice. So when I hit puberty I decided to push it as much as I could.

Would that be your preferred singing style?

I feel like I can let go more with that style. My chest voice is quite heavy, so it's hard to maneuver. Whereas when I'm in my falsetto it's easier to move around with it. I can think of something and do it without having to worry.

You mentioned Whitney Houston; which other artists do you look up to?

It started with Michael Bublé and Jamie Cullum. Jazz was my first love. Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin; I just loved how they had this voice that was singing and speaking at the same time. It's very conversational, and as such incorporates acting too, which I love. For me, they go hand in hand. You can't be a great singer without being a great actor.

How do you personally connect to a song?

I suppose I hear nothing but the music. It goes back to being trained in musical theatre. I was taught that connection is key. If you don't believe it the audience won't.

Is it in the lyrics or the melody?

A lot of the time it's the melody. I do understand and convey the lyrics when need be, but for me it's all about the melody. I love sounds and tones. Often when I listen to a singer I'll be listening to the tune first to determine if they are good. Only then will I listen to the lyrics. Because nowadays some of the artists out there simply can't sing. They're famous because they look good or whatever else it is.

Part of the prize for winning is to perform on the main stage at Pride in London. That's gonna be a fun one.

It is indeed! I have a fifteen-minute set to play around with. I'll definitely be singing 'Writing's on the Wall', which is what I sang at the final.

If you can't wear it, surround yourself with inspiring things...I love it when people transform spaces. A little bit of bunting goes a long way in creating a mood. I'm thrilled when I go somewhere and it's like entering a whole new world.

I hear The Pale Blue Door fine dining experience is back this month and it's on the last weekend of May, Thursday, Friday, Saturday until Sunday 29th. Set designer Tony Hornecker turns his own workspace into a magical cornucopia all set down a back alley off the Kingsland Road.

Cute night I (still) Don't Know Her at London Loves 104-122 City Road off Old Street on

Mariah/JLO at London Loves

Thursday 26th. It's a back-to-back Mariah/JLO themed evening from 6pm till 11ish in a bijou bar! Diva indulgence all night with themed cocktails, videos and some kind of voting situation!

Sassitude Vol. V returns to Vogue Fabrics on Friday 27th May. Get with the programme and join in the fun with Emily Rose England and friends! 10-3am. Catch the final weekend of Arthole installation Gegen Identity at Dalston Superstore on Saturday 28th, 5-7pm. Then carry the evening on with Lazertitz with Violet, Lou Hayter and residents Hannah Holland, Cathal, Bica and Elles DJing 'til 4am.

Seeing as it's a bank holiday this weekend, Sunday night is going out night too! Douche Bag Spring Clean takes over The Star of Bethnal Green on Sunday 29th. Playing a selection of trashy pop, synth and guitar Laurence Del Ray and Mickey XCX keep the party going from 10pm-4am.

If you're still going on Tuesday 31st May then celebrate with Polyester Zine and Bad Vibrations at the Moth Club over in Valette Street E9. Teaming up to present psych-dance band Prince Rama and No Zu from 7:30 onwards, very cool man!

Last week a new arts-based hotel and function space was launched. Green Rooms over in sunny Wood Green is surely a breakthrough for us creative types. All sorts going on here including cheap rooms, exhibitions and shows! Now who'd have thought Wood Green would be a destination point?

COMMUNITY – THE LONDON RAIDERS

As the name suggests, they're London-based, and cater to predominantly LGBT members. Their priority is just as much to have fun and socialize, as it is to play softball and get some nice healthy wholesome exercise. Remember what wholesome exercise feels like? Us neither. All the more reason to join!

As well as playing friendly matches at home, they enter into a league and go to tournaments around the UK and abroad. Exciting stuff! They run a development squad for new players too, so don't worry if you're inexperienced.

It all sounds great! Apart from anything else they've got their own kit, which looks totes cute.

To find out more and to look into signing up, go to their website at londonraiders.co.uk, or look them up on Facebook.

This week in our community section... The London Raiders! That sounds like a troupe of masked, sexy bandits doesn't it. It's actually a gay softball team. Hooray!
