Katya to host talent show for Student Pride 2017

RuPaul's Drag Race legend and high-class Russian whore Katya Zamolodchikova (but your dad, just calls me, KATYAAAA) is hosting a special talent show at the 2017 National Student Pride celebrations next month! Katya will open the show with a STUNNING gymnast, and then it's on to the talent show. The crème of the LGBT student crop will have the chance to show off their flairs in front of a panel of Katya and two other judges! Student Pride is on Friday 24th – Sunday 26th February. To apply, for the talent show, head to studentpride.co.uk.

Squirt release new ad campaign to coincide with Trump's inauguration

In a rather genius PR move, salacious social media moguls Squirt.org have released a "LET'S MAKE AMERICA GAY AGAIN" campaign, just as the new US president is being sworn in. The attention-grabbing billboards are going up this week around New York and LA. As well as advertising their brand, it is a pointed and deliberate stand against Donald Trump. "LGBT rights are in question with the incoming Trump administration," said Attila Szatmari, digital business director of parent company Pink Triangle Press. "So we say, 'let's make America gay again!' Let's make it happy and inclusive!" Squirt is a hookup website. Log on at www.squirt.org

Toss off with THT!

Cheeky! No this isn't about group masturbation (unfortunately) it's about a special event the Terrence Higgins Trust are battering up this Pancake Day (28th February), to raise money for those living with HIV and AIDS. Host a sponsored pancake toss party, get people to donate, and raise lots of money! Yay! And you can eat delicious pancakes while you do it. You can also drink lots of wine. Because why not (WINE not). To sign up and for more info, head to tth.org.uk/toff

THE NIGHTBUS

Disruptive drag performer The Nightbus is a personification of everything we love about the alternative queer club scene. She's talented, she's original, and she's not here to make fucking friends, because she's got more than enough already.

She's also formidably intelligent and switched on. When she gets to the counter at Chicken Cottage, she not only already knows what she's ordering, she knows how many napkins she wants, and what sauces she's having.

She's done all sorts! She's been a muse for electroclash queen Peaches, she's performed at Glastonbury shitshow Block9, she's been one of the stars of POC night The Cocoa Butter Club...go to her Facebook page and pack a lunch!

We took her aside just next to Old Street roundabout, and had a chat about Islam, hard boiled eggs, and some other stuff. We took some gorgery pics too!

Words by Dylan Jones Photography by Victor Hensel-Coe

Hello, The Nightbus! Why are you called THE NIGHTBUS?

The very thought of The Nightbus conjures thoughts of discomfort, necessity and regret, all of which apply when you know me on any level. Having said that, I am sad to say I feel rather defunct now that the pesky Night Tube has taken my reigns.

Tell us about your most eventful nightbus journey.

I cycle. I'm no bloody fool.

What's your favourite condiment?

I quite like that imitable dessert-cum-accompaniment from across the pond - cranberry sauce. The saccharine offering brings tears to my eyes when I recall that despite best efforts to appear all sweet and rosy, there's no such thing as an Innocent American...

What's your favourite thing to eat when you're a hungover mess?

The cholesterol-laced, still-beating hearts of Tory backbenchers. On toast.

How would you describe your bedroom manner?

Remedial. More so for the mattress than the participants. Sexy time is generally a lazy affair and ends with a natter about who we hate on the scene and how they will make it in the fashion industry blah blah blah - utter nonsense really.

Do you like a hard brexit?

I like a hard-boiled egg. In fact, I do believe a hard-boiled egg was included by Mrs May in her 12 point plan. Along with spilling the blood of every commuter who doesn't tap in their oyster card quickly enough, and holding a national séance to see what Debbie Reynolds thinks.

What's the weirdest sex thing you've ever done?

It involved a foot, a crusty wig and some duct tape. That's all I can say.

Have you ever shagged a celebrity or someone vaguely famous?

See above. Again, that's all I can say.

What's your favourite accessory?

I'm quite fond of a luxury handbag, nimbly put together by the flexible and malnourished fingers of street urchins in Bangladesh for the delectation and delight of many a white woman in the West. I feel like it should be taken a step further though. Perhaps Uncle Karl could look into creating a trend for hollowed out orphans on chains? Perfect place to store your iPhone whilst letting everyone know you're an utterly spineless and selfish cunt.

What do you think goes through Melania Trump's head every morning when she wakes up?

I'm actually not so anti-Melania as she's just an overlooked pawn in this hypermasculinised game of chess we've all been forced to watch over the last two years. I'm looking forward to hearing her chosen area of focus as First Lady. Perhaps she'll go full throttle and also film a music video with Beyonce in a school canteen. Or maybe she'll choose to highlight the issues caused by using wet Weetabix as a wig when you're the 'leader of the free world'.

Give us some dancing tips.

If you hear it crack, remember you're not black.

What's the best place you've ever seen a drag show

A couple of years back a friend took me to a wet market south of Bangkok at around midnight. We wandered through entrails and flapping ducks before reaching the centre, where a makeshift bar had been set up and a flurry of gorgeous performers meticulously embodied their idols on a stage made of animal cages, covering hits from Rihanna to 2NE1. It was dank, fab and the true definition of queering a space by utilising outside of its demonstrable purpose. Loved it.

You split your time between London and Berlin - how do they compare?!

Before moving to Berlin, I was told it was totes chill and I'd love it, but on reflection I was told this by white straight counterparts who never have to consider the risks taken when you're a person of colour, femme, female queer and so on. Berlin presents a unique set of battles, because ultimately Germany is a country without colonies (as a punishment post Great War) meaning that there is a distinct lack of diversity on its streets, leading to unfamiliarity of things that are different. London on the other hand, appears far more vocal in its aggressions towards the aforementioned groups, and it's truly sad to experience in a city where we're all being shat upon from a great height. I adore Berlin for one reason though, and that is the positive and unfaltering welcome of refugees to the city, despite how much the European media attempt to vilify them. Everyone I know contributes to welcoming refugees and migrants in some way or another, whether through regular donation, volunteering every week or holding parties aimed at welcoming them to the rather splendid scenes that prevail across the city. Special mentions to AJ Pittman and Olympia Bukkakis, both tirelessly working to support migrants and refugees in creative and beautiful ways. It's sad to witness, but I believe the UK can learn a lot about integration from a country so historically fraught like Germany.

As a muslim queer person, do you think islamophobia is now more prevalent than homophobia?

Oh lord, totally! I really want to help people realise that being Muslim can mean so many things, just as being gay or femme or trans can cover a whole spectrum of people. Not everyone prays five times a day, not everyone despises the West and there are literally a negligible group who look to Daesh as a good thing, and we constantly speak up to say that small group will never and can never represent all of us.

It's worth highlighting that younger generations appear to be brainwashed into following ISIS and being extreme. But I would guess this is a result of being a heavily oppressed and troubled generation. The ones who suffered post-September 11th by being stopped in the street for no reason, or held by Border control for 24 hours because of a foreign sounding name (both of these things have happened to me). The public want to believe that the forces in place always use their power responsibly, but actually they do make mistakes and the more that happens, the more disenfranchised the oppressed will be. Not a justification at all, just another angle to consider.

You're mates with Peaches! What's she like?

Peaches is a babe. I was invited, along with five other wonderful performers, to be muses in a contemporary interpretation of Mozart's Così fan tutte at the Deutsche Oper, and we worked quite closely on our roles in the show. Peaches' partner, Black Cracker, is an incredible rapper and artist who happens to be trans. Their work on this and so many other things in Berlin is just beyond. So clever and thoughtful. Plus she lived on the same street as me so we'd have a natter in the corner shop when buying milk and lube.

Do you like the word "gorgey"?

I bloody love the word 'gorgey'. It's a quintessential throwback to the rhetoric of Patsy and Eddie. It will always have a special place in my life.

Where can we next see you perform?

Well I'm away for a bit now, but back in March for a few nights and I'll be treading the boards at The Glory and Dalston Superstore no doubt. April onwards I will be returning to Berlin, to my gracious home at Monster Ronson's Ichiban Karaoke where myself and my drag haus (The House of Presents) host weekly drag parties and shows for y'all. And I also will be doing a few nights with my gal pal Olympia Bukkakis for her night called 'Get Fucked'. Don't worry. There's no drugs or bumming. Just performances and other equally gorgey things. Follow me on Instagram (the.nightbus) and Twitter (the_nightbus) for dates and dick pics sweeties. Or alternatively, come piss on my tyres in the Camberwell bus depot. Either/or really.

Give us a parting shot! What's the Nightbus's advice on life?

Stop taking shit, stand up and fight back. If you see injustice, speak up and don't shut up until you've helped the silenced. Oh and always tip your driver. Even on TfL.

WE FAKE

OK, we've held out long enough, January's gone on for ages. It's time for another big ol' blowout where we can take up our favourite pastimes again of drinking and dancing with our tops off. The sort of party that makes you forget the outside world and whisks you off to a muscly circuit party on a beach somewhere like Barcelona.

Well, there's no one that does that better than the boys behind continent-hopping party EXPERIENCE, WE Party. After the gladiatorial strength of last year's WE Warriors, this time round it's WE Fake. We love being fake here at QX. After all, as we never tire of saying, there's nothing more fake than being real * looks smoulderingly into the middle distance *

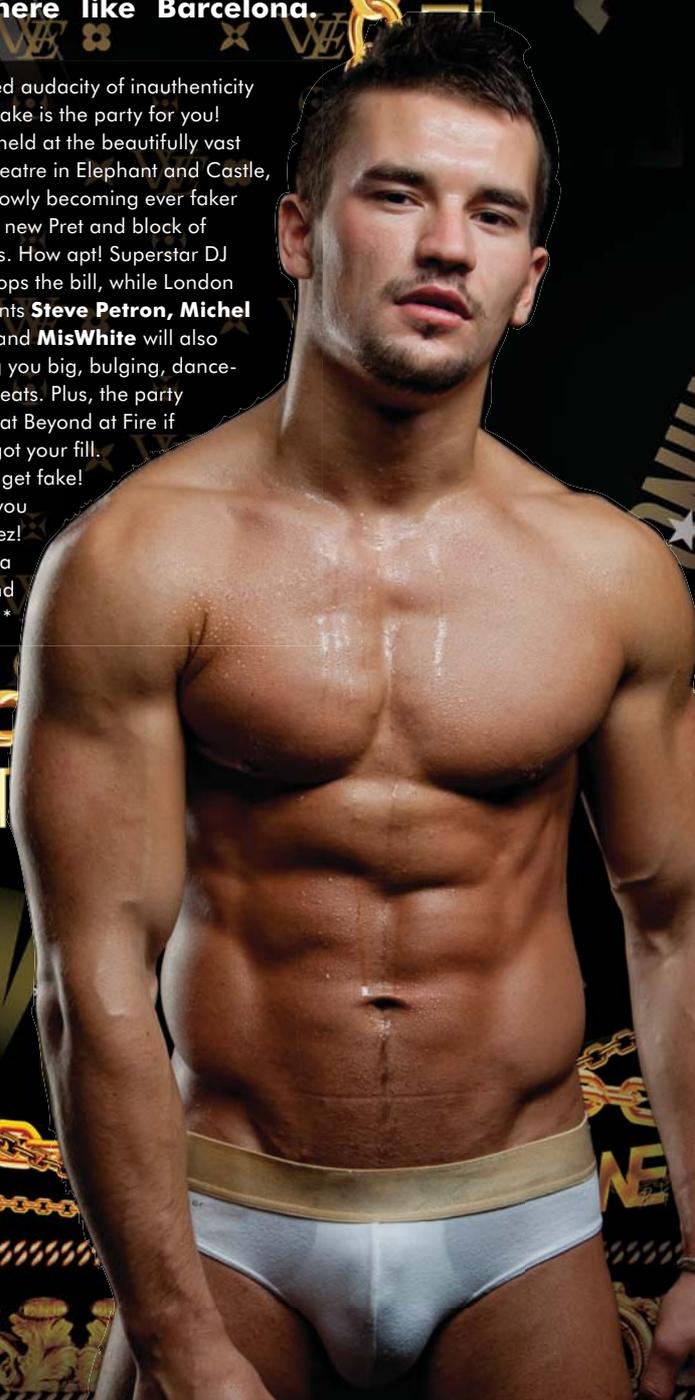

We've all dabbled in fakeness at one point or another. Sometimes, it's the knock-off goods you see down like the market, like Moskinno earrings that make your ears go slightly green after wearing them for half a day or a Callum Kline waistband winking at you under a pair of Lovee Strauss jeans. Other times, it's the counterfeit smile and wave you effortlessly throw to that ex you see on a night out. It's all FAKE hun.

If you love the unabashed tackiness and sheer-faced audacity of inauthenticity then WE Fake is the party for you!

It's being held at the beautifully vast coronet theatre in Elephant and Castle, an area slowly becoming ever faker with every new Pret and block of luxury flats. How apt! Superstar DJ SR EDU tops the bill, while London WE residents Steve Petron, Michel Mizrahi and MisWhite will also be serving you big, bulging, dance-for-days beats. Plus, the party continues at Beyond at Fire if you ain't got your fill.

So, let's get fake!
We'll see you there babez!
*calls you a cunt behind your back *

WE Fake is on Saturday 28th January at The Coronet, 28 New Kent Road, SE1 6TJ, 11pm-6am, tickets available at orangenation.co.uk

BLOC HEADS

Blocheads

Friday 27th January

Ready for a supercool supertrendy club night that'll blow your 100% cotton American Apparel socks off? Then look no further than Blocheads! It's an electroshock poptwink club experience at East London den of hedonism, East Bloc! East Bloc's notorious for basically kicking off the now flourishing East London queer clubbing scene, back when flats in Hackney didn't cost £2 million. Down at Blocheads, they've always got the best DJs and the hottest boys! A winning combo!

East Bloc, 217 City Road, EC1V 1JN.
11pm - 6am. £5 before 1am, £10 after.

Men Inc.

Men Inc

Friday 27th January

Y'know what, we've NEVER had a bad night at The Eagle! It's always amazing vibes in there. We love its mellifluous melange of 80s retro sensibilities and modern urban knowingness. Basically, it's just a great nightclub. The staff are friendly and the clientele always have a knowing glint in their eye. That's the other thing, we always seem to pull at The Eagle! Which is always good! Pulling in nightclubs is surprisingly rare these days. Everyone's too glued to their phones. Anyway don't miss Men Inc at The Eagle this weekend, their weekly Friday night party which goes on until the wee hours and is always a right laugh.

The Eagle, 349 Kennington Lane, SE11 5QY. 10pm - 5am.

A:M

A:M

Friday 27th January

There is a party, in this city, that goes on for twelve hours. How do they do it?! WE DON'T KNOW. Actually we do. Lots of Red Bull! Lolz. A:M are the renowned partystarters famous for keeping London's gritty Vauxhall scene ALIVE. Yes! In this age of faceless consumerism, where mediocrity is celebrated, it's important to support all things unconventional. So go down to A:M, take your top off and kiss some boys. MWAH!

Protocol, Lightbox Entrance, South Lambeth Road, SW8 1RT.
11pm - 11am. Advance tickets £4 before 1am, £8 after.
£13 OTD.

PUSH THE BUTTON

Push The Button

Friday 27th January

This weekend, Push The Button are starting Eurovision proceedings ALREADY. They bloody love Eurovision, so it's no surprise they're getting hyped for it months before the finale. It's to celebrate the start of the UK's Eurovision selection show, "EUROVISION: You Decide". Let's face it, we're totally screwed this year. Europe despise us. We're going to come last. So all the more reason to have a dance to Loreen (pictured) and drown your sorrows with a nice vodka coke! Hooray! They'll be screening the show as well as playing all your fave Eurovision tunes.

The Royal Vauxhall Tavern,
372 Kennington Lane,
SE11 5HY.
7pm - 3am. £7/£9.

XXL Construction

Saturday 28th January

Give us an X! Give us another X! Give us an L! XXL! Imagine if XXL had cheerleaders. It'd be a right hairy affair. Beards and pomps. Love it! This week, it's all about construction workers! Oof! We love a construction worker. We can't pass a Crossrail site without taking a lecherous look at that sea of testosterone and hi-viz jackets. What is it that makes construction workers so sexy? Maybe it's all that drilling. Anyway, that's the theme for this week's XXL, so pull on some Timbaland boots and get down there.

meat

Saturday 28th January

It's time for another meaty treat! They've been marinating in their own juices (ew) for the last month, and now they're BACK! London's trendiest, sexiest, burliest zine for discerning young men. For GAYS basically. And their rip-roaring club nights have built a name for themselves as major events on the queer social calendar. For this one they've got some super duper DJs, including residents The Meat Boys, as well as the sensationally named 2Gurlz1Cub (pictured). And then downstairs in the dance basement it's Nic Fischer and Hifi Sean. Yaaaaay!

Dalston Superstore, 117 Kingsland High Street, E8 2PB. 9pm – 3am. Free before 10pm, £5 after.

TROUGH

Trough

Saturday 28th January

There's a totally major new gay night landing at graffiti-spattered Waterloo venue, The Vaults...and it's called Trough! Named after the receptacle pigs drink out of! Hooray! Founded ten years ago in exotically artsy antipodean settlement Melbourne, it's now migrated to London with its kaleidoscopic brand of beats, booze and men! Trough is open to everyone – the bears, the jocks, the twinks, everyone! And The Vaults is the perfect venue – it's labyrinthine and brick-lined, the perfect setting for being breathy and urgent. This weekend they've got special guest DJ Boris, renowned resident DJ at Berghain! Yes! Woo!

The Vaults, Leake Street, SE1 7NN. 10:30pm – 4am. £20 adv tickets, £25 OTD.

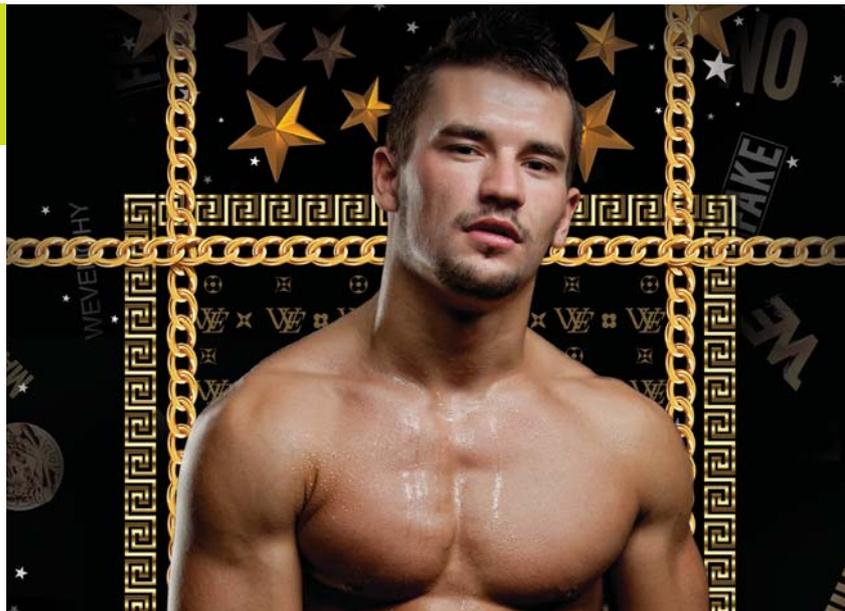

WE FAKE

WE Fake

Saturday 28th January

At gold-corniced paradise of partying The Coronet, WE Party is returning this month for their special brand of ripple-torsoed partying! The theme this time is FAKE. So...um...be fake? Wear fake fashion brands and fake hair and be fake to everyone. So just do what you always do basically, HA! They've got superstar guest DJ SR EDU playing, as well as London residents Steve Pitron, Michel Mizrahi and Miswhite! These parties are notorious the world over as being THE gay clubbing experience! Shirts off, glowsticks, the works.

The Coronet, 28 New Kent Road, SE15. 11pm – 6am. Tickets available at orangenation.co.uk

We were out and about on Saturday night, and we all know what Saturday night means...XXL TIME! Yes, our favourite cavernous, pulsating, ursine bear's den was packed to the rafters and ready for action as London froze in an atmospherically wintery January evening. Well, XXL certainly warmed us up! We barely had time to stumble in and put our coats away, then suddenly Hung Up by Madonna was playing and we never looked back! No-one looks back after Hung Up by Madonna plays. Not even Madonna. Sexy superstar DJ Paul Morrell was on hand to give us even more tumultuous tunes and see us through to the wee hours. It's been about 5 years since I first set foot in East Bloc and while today it's different to how it once was, it remains a reliably solid choice on a Friday night; no matter how many times I've been, I always have a great time! What is it about this club that means that it constantly surprises us with an amazing night out? At least for Blocheads you can definitely rely on the music always being amazing. The residents are legends from the scene and tonight I saw the wonderful Martyn Fitzgerald warm us up with some decidedly funky house. Martyn was followed by the downright iconic Hifi Sean who always gets us dancing with heavy bass and the best beats. Stevie B was last up and closed the night with his best tracks for us. All in all, East bloc is always a great night out!

Since the lamented demise of The Hoist, Hard On has become safely ensconced at Fire, just round the corner. This week saw the second edition of the night in its new home. The men were as horny as ever and the large not-so-dark room was heaving with hungry naked bodies and grunts of shared pleasure, while the slings in the play area got very little respite indeed. In bar/dance area, Gaston Croupier, his award winning ass and his sexy fucker of a boyfriend almost had to fight uninhibited punters for a chance to use the podium for a raunchy session that made more than just our eyes bulge. Most importantly, and perhaps unexpectedly for what is after all a fairly hardcore venue, Hard On gathers one of the friendliest and most relaxed crowds on the club scene. It's ideal to meet like-minded pervs and get your leg over.

Hidden away, literally in the backstreets of Mile End, is a set of double doors that doesn't look much with no sign saying what it is, no lights to guide the way and certainly no one standing outside giving you a clue what might be going on inside. But go through the double doors and you enter a palace of glorious kink! It's a tardis of a club that keeps on giving. The decor is wonderful and there are slings and plenty of dark corners for dark deeds! Out the back there's even a huge smoking area for the cigar dads to really shine. But tonight people mainly kept their clothes on, because it was all about the looks! As a special extra loads of the champions of the leather scene had been gathered for a wonderful social. The boys from London Leather Men brought us many of the currently crowned Mr Leathers from all over Europe. What a treat!

There's a new gay night in town! Our gay scene is constantly in flux, and it's always an exciting moment when a new nightlife concept comes crashing in, spattering sequins and laced with lamé. It's like in science class when you used a pipette to drop food colouring into some water, and watched tendrils of entrancing colour spreading and melding, enriching their environs! Obscure reference? SO WHAT. We're tired of referencing Sex & The City.

Anyway yes, new gay night! This one's touching down courtesy of our sun-tanned, snake-avoiding pals from across the pond or rather, across thousands of miles of ocean, Australia! Yes, Trough kicked off in the artsily antipodean city of Melbourne, back when Dannii Minogue was still relevant (don't worry Dannii, you'll always be relevant in our hearts! And in our Spotify sex playlists!)

It's called TROUGH, after the thing pigs eat out of. We're not sure what that name is supposed to convey, but to US, it conveys wet n' wild hedonism and outrageous abandon. Which sounds like our kinda night! We spoke to head Trough honcho Nik Dimopoulos to find out more.

Hey Nik! So you're freshly over from Australia! How does the Australian gay scene compare to the British gay scene?

It's interesting you ask that, because there's a similar thing happening on both Sydney and London's gay scenes. Both cities have been affected by the closure of many prominent clubs, as well as the rise of social media and hook-up apps. People now feel less of a need to go out clubbing to dance, meet and cruise and there are fewer venues to do it in. So the question remains, do we still need the gay dance club? I've been around long enough to experience the height of clubbing in both London and Melbourne/Sydney to say YES!

What kind of guys come to Trough?

As the promo reads: 'TROUGH has amalgamated jocks, bears, hunks, queers, beards, twinks and in-betweeners into one pretty mess on the dance-floor.' That's the case in Australia anyway! I'm looking forward to seeing who flocks to London's version. TROUGH is not strictly a fetish party but does attract people with a very open mind. Interpret that as you please.

Have you ever drank from a Trough?

Of course! I grew up in the suburbs in Melbourne, on a very big property that was like a miniature farm. There were sheep, goats, chickens, ducks and guinea pigs. So with a racing imagination like mine, I may have on a few occasions pretended I was just one of the (guinea) pigs.

If you could get ANY celebrity to DJ at Trough, who would it be?

Definitely NOT Paris Hilton. But I have booked my ultimate DJ hero Boris from Berlin as the main headliner. He may not be a 'celebrity' in the Hollywood sense and he may not have the long blonde locks but he can mix.

Do you think Melania Trump would like Trough?

LOL! I would much prefer Michelle to be the first lady of the TROUGH. Saying that, if Melania did manage to sneak through the security (cuz that's the only way she is getting in) I'm sure she would get a full boner. But like all conservatives, she would completely deny it.

Tell us about your super-duper DJ lineup.

Well as I said there's BORIS who's one of Berghain's resident DJs. He plays techno, deep house, dark disco and all sorts of butch beats. He's also headlined at some of the biggest international annual gay fetish parties like SNAX (Berlin) and BLACK PARTY (New York) so he's seen it all! BORIS will be supported by local DJs with a similar edge DIRTBOX DJs, ANDREW MOORE and fellow Berliner HANNO HINKELBEIN.

Finally...what can we expect in the future from Trough?

Well quite a lot if London and The Vaults will continue to have me. Let's just get past this one first and see what the critics have to say. I'm ready!

TROUGH is on Saturday 28th January at The Vaults, Leake Street Waterloo, SE1 7NN. 10:30pm - 4am.

Tareq at Men Inc.

Men Inc. is the weekly Friday homosocial at Vauxhall's Eagle; equal measures boozy, cruisy and floozy, attracting all manners of beefy blokes, hot boys and everyone in between. You can catch some of the scene's best disco and house DJs, as well as regular BBQs in the beer garden, when the weather is less... melodramatically Antarctic. It's a great way to kick off the weekend, all beers, boys and beats. That's our mantra, that is.

They also have a brand-new promoter, Tareq, a DJ and recording artist who's done more remixes than you've had hot dicks. THAT MANY. We asked him some questions on what he's got in store for Men Inc.

So, you're the new Men Inc. promoter! What are you going to bring to the night?

The idea is to make things a bit darker and sexier, with the focus being primarily on music and atmosphere. Lee Benjamin, the creative director, came up with a new logo and artwork, which I think reflects the new minimalistic aesthetic really well. I'm actually very proud to work with this amazing team of people who have the same vision as me for a good night out. The music is mainly house, disco house and nu disco, I personally believe music is the most important factor for people who want to enjoy a night out, dance and flirt.

Have you got any DJs or special guests lined up for the next couple of weeks?

We will be bringing in special guests every so often and there are plans for the next few weeks already. This Friday, we have Hifi Sean as a guest on the decks. He's a great artist and DJ and has a great single out at the moment!

How would you describe your music taste?

I have quite broad eclectic tastes. I am also a singer/songwriter and producer myself, but my heart really belongs to electronic music. Good music that brings out feelings of joy, that makes you want to dance, fall in love and enjoy life with its ups and downs.

Name a song that sums up Men Inc. for you.

That's a hard one, but I would say "Markas - Love". It's a sexy groovy track.

Name a man that sums up Men inc. for you.

Oh I don't know - Tom Hardy

maybe. Have a think about that and decide if you want to come down and check us out

What's one of the songs you turn to that just gets feet on the dance floor?

Hercules & Love Affair - My Offence (Detroit Swindle's Anger Management remix) It's a floor filler!

What's your go-to response to people asking for requests?

I'm very happy to respond to people that have requests and if it's something that I have and fits the set I'll gladly play it, unfortunately that isn't always the case. I have been asked to play RNB when clearly my set was house music. . . .

Would you have played Donald Trump's inauguration if he had asked you?

Now there's a request I would have no problems in turning down.

Lady Olé presents...

Barbie Girl!

So, we've heard from a reliable source, that apparently, life in plastic... IS FANTASTIC! And it seems those crazy kids over at Lady Olé think so too, because they're throwing a special BARBIE THEMED party!

To be fair, Barbie, despite her questionable feminist credentials, IS iconic isn't she. She drives a Ferrari, she's got killer accessories, and she's dating uber-twink Ken. Actually we always suspected Ken was gay. Have you checked his phone Barbie? Listen out for that Grindr notification ping next time you're both driving through West Hollywood.

This special Barbie party kicks off Lady Olé's 2017 season in superficially skinny style. They'll be turning one year old in March, so this is the PRELUDE to that. Yes, it's not enough to just have a birthday party anymore. You've got to have at least ten pre-parties. For this one, they've got guests The Lipsinkers doing a special performance. As the name suggests, they're a drag lip-synching troupe! They're absolutely bonkers. Off their rockers!

So pour yourself something pink, squeeze into some impossibly high pastel blue heels and get yourself to Lady Olé. COME ON BARBIE LET'S GO PARTY.

Lady Olé is on Saturday 4th February at Nightclub Kolis, 1 Archway Close, N19 3TD. 11pm - 4am.

Her Upstairs

18 Kentish Town Road, NW1 9NX

Her Upstairs was one of the success stories of 2016: a new, queer-run cabaret venue finding home in Camden, putting on audaciously inventive and daring shows most nights of the week. This week, they've got the Cocoa Butter Club on Thursday, one of the capital's only nights dedicated solely to showcasing and celebrating Performers of Colour within the cabaret scene. Then, on Friday, they're celebrating Soho scene staple Lady Lloyd's birthday with the Lady herself, Baga Chipz, Silver Summers, Honey Foxx and Snow White Trash stepping out as the Spice Girls. We'll leave it for you to guess who's doing who. Truly iconic. And let's be honest; no one's ever going to be doing a drag tribute act to GEM or Mel B's solo output or Vicky B's range of culottes, so this your chance to go back to where it all began.

Myra Dubois

George and Dragon

2 Blackheath Hill, SE10 8DE

This South London boozer is just so camp, it makes Rylan look like a pillar of butchness. Saying that, a pillar of butchness sounds like grandiose term for a dick. Scrap that, then. Anyway, back to the George & Dragon. During the week, it's an ideal place to set up shop with a gin and tonic for a night of gossip and exaggeratingly flipping your hair back in laughter, but at the weekend, it attracts the sort of drag queens who've considered restraint and subtlety, they honestly have, but decided it would be better for everyone if they instead went for untameable over-the-topness. That saucy Siren of South Yorkshire Myra Dubois takes to the stage on Friday, while Titti La Camp rules the roost on Sunday. DJs follow on after into the wee hours.

Miss Terry Tour

The Old Ship

17 Barnes Street, Limehouse, E14 7NW

The Old Ship's been anchored up in Limehouse for decades and you're always due a warm welcome when you clamber aboard. We perhaps go overboard with the nautical descriptions when we're doing The Old Ship and we're sorry if we've ever misled people into thinking that it's an actual ship. It's actually only a pub. We say only. It's a charming, friendly local with old-school, ready salted crisps vibes. They've also got their fair share of cabaret on as well, with Rotherbird Myra Dubois (ooh she gets around, doesn't she?) visiting on the Saturday, and the ravishing Miss Terry Tour popping by from Spain for a rare performance on UK shores on the Sunday evening.

Ku Bar

30 Lisle Street
Soho, WC2H 7BA

As well as the impossibly glam and scenetastic happenings that go on at Ku Bar every night, all week, don't miss their Kabaret night every Sunday evening. The foul-mouthed and never mealy-mouthed Jacqui Swallows hosts, and she's always joined by a sparkling range of London's best queens. This Sunday, the virtuosic Vicki Vivacious and valiant Vinegar Strokes join her down in the Klub, with Lady Lloyd on the decks after, playing all the hits and no shit, as only she knows how. So, what else are you going to be doing on a Sunday evening? We're sure that leftover pasta will still be in the fridge when you get back. Just head down to Ku for the classiest, sassiest Sunday in Soho!

Jacqui Swallows

Victoria Sponge

Central Station

37 Wharfdale Road, King's Cross, N1 9SD

Another week, another bustling week of activity at this King's Cross polymath of a gay bar. Take to the mic with Chris Reardon at his karaoke sessions on Mondays and Fridays, while on Wednesdays, Victoria Sponge fills in for Sandra (stop it) while she's away in New York. Miss Jason takes a break from her Brighton panto to pop in this Saturday evening for some light entertainment. Plus, there's a menu full of food and cocktails to occupy you elsewhere. And how can we forget downstairs in the basement, there's a separate venue where all salacious sorts gather. What do we mean? Well, let's just say we'd recommend Donald Trump pay a visit whenever he's over here on state business. He'd get right off.

So I don't know if anyone told you but this place has had a makeover! There's new lights, new DJ booths, it's colourful af. Omg it's pretty in Ku Bar. And the bar isn't the only thing that's pretty, the people are too! First off, we have the bar staff. ALWAYS hot, always smiling and beautiful, always friendly. We can imagine people go here just to perv on the bar staff sometimes! Second the wonderful hosts! On Saturday night it was little and large, the beautiful Niko Niko and the elegant Jacqui Swallows! Upstairs bathed in beautiful coloured lights it was Carol Garcia all night long while downstairs the stunning Vicky Vivacious had us giving it all on the dance floor. Lastly we have the great music, the best commercial dance and pop classics! This bar has everything, and it's just been upgraded! So it's even better than it was before! Can you even imagine?

Holding The Man

Brockley Jack Theatre

Holding The Man is an intelligent and moving stage production of Tim Conigrave's seminal memoir

There are occasions when you find yourself on a famous person's Wikipedia page and despite you knowing absolutely nothing about this musician, scientist, artist, whoever; when you see they died in the late 80's or early 90's at an alarmingly young age, you just instantaneously know. And that was how I approached Holding The Man, only really knowing that it was about Tim Conigrave's autobiographical love story between two Australian boys in the late twentieth century; well, AIDS was always going to play a depressingly pivotal role. Though, that's not to say that this ominous cloud makes it any less gut wrenching when the inevitable happens.

There are only flickers of this looming threat in the first act, which is instead a gloriously cummy coming of age, where Tim first sets his eyes his high-school hunk, John Caleo, and they become sweethearts with surprising speed. You'd say it was almost carefree, were it not for the disapproval of their parents, but that doesn't get in their way too much. After some time, however, Tim discovers political activism and nightclubs, two forces that act as an awakening and test his first relationship. This half is heavy on laughs, with rapid scene changes and playfully inventive use of the intimate stage space, from recreating the moon landing to phone calls between irritable fathers, and a hilarious circlejerk sleepover where you can almost smell the hormones pouring from the sleeping bags.

The second act is where Tim's clandestine sexual exploration catches up with the pair in cruel and unforgiving fashion. Much of it, as you can imagine, is bed-bound and this is where the coquettish chemistry that we saw brew between Tim and John in the first act fully blossom into something beautiful and mature. It's never easy to watch two lovers in the supposed prime of their lives discuss making their wills and mulling over their lives' regrets. 'We are 80 all of a sudden' sighs a downtrodden John.

Sure, it could be said that the subject matter is pretty familiar to anyone who's seen any film, play, or book on the AIDS epidemic, but it's not mawkish or contrived in any sense. By the time we see John's condition rapidly deteriorate, we've seen the couple stick together through fifteen years of separations, periods of long-distance lusting and a reluctant opening up of the relationship. This is first and foremost a love story, one tragically cut short by infection.

The two leads are sweetly understated as Tim and John, never veering into corny territory. Plus, there's a wonderfully versatile supporting cast, who switch from a friend's mum to gay clubber, or silent lesbian to stony-faced doctor, with a loose ease, lightening up the often-heavy proceedings. Holding The Man is an intimate and witty play, packing an even bigger emotional sucker-punch than you'd expect.

Who needs Andrew Garfield for a hard-hitting AIDS play?

Holding The Man* is at Brockley Jack Theatre from 17th January to 4th February, 7.45pm. Tickets are available at brockleyjack.co.uk.

#JULIASAYS...

by Princess Julia

It's always good to switch things up! Y'know, change your routine and set yourself some challenges. Things don't always end up the way you've planned but you could be in for a few interesting surprises.

This week we're thinking about visiting cult night Naked Boys Reading: The Sensual World at the Miranda, Ace Hotel on Thursday 26th from 7.30 'til 10.30pm. It's a night with an intellectual slant but with the added twist of well, some naked guest readers curated around a theme.

BOiBOX presents HISNEY at She, Soho, 23a Old Compton Street on Thursday 26th January. They tell me it's their 50th party, so to celebrate they're doing a Disney drag extravaganza. Expect

Naked Boys Reading

Drag King cabaret at its finest from 7.30 - 10pm.

On Friday 27th it's the return of BUM.P, who are re-launching at the Dalston Superstore! DJs include Jacqui Potato, Charles Jeffrey, Mark Ashley Dupé upstairs...downstairs for a change I'll be DJing with Matt Lambert and Josh Caffé. Lots of performance action from Lucki Borgia, ZM, London Voguers and The Phoenix. 10pm - 3am!!!

I love how club nights are returning this year with a bang! What about this fab night Rad Festa at Vogue Fabrics on Friday 27th. Mixing it up with DJs Alexandre Simões, Afonso Peixoto and Josh Quinton and performance from Kale Dogan, Jender Anomie, Elliot Reed and a welcome return of Ms Kevin Le Grand. On from 10pm - 3am.

Head over to Camden for Lewis G. Burton's night Inferno at The Crowndale on the 27th. Lewis and DJ Sebastian Bartz are hosting an inventive evening of performance and music from 8.30pm until 4.30am.

Stay in Camden this weekend and visit Her Upstairs where on Saturday 28th Spice World celebrates all things Spice Girls with a tribute band starring Lady Lloyd as Posh Spice, Baga Chips as Ginger Spice, Silver Summers as Sporty, Honey Fox as Scary and Snow White Trash as Baby Spice. This I have to see!!!! Show time 10pm.

Glory Lates this Saturday 28th presents Myra Dubois. A surprise visit, Myra will be popping in with her international show consisting of a variety of showbiz numbers and repartee, plus a wardrobe to die for throughout the evening until 2am. I'll be DJing downstairs there with Ninebob as well! Don't forget I'll be back down at The Glory on Sunday 29th for Princess Julia Loves... from 7-11pm.

Things to look out for... Grande Dame DJ Set at Spiritland on Wednesday 1st February from 8pm - 1am. Quiz Me Maybe - Don't Drop the Soap at the Dalston Superstore, from 7pm-10pm with Just May and Dave Tester quizzing us on the topic of soap operas all in the best possible taste!

COMMUNITY: LGBT HISTORY MONTH 2017

LGBT History Month is celebrated every February in the UK, with a wide range of different events organised all over the country. The theme for 2017 is citizenship and law, in order to mark the 50th anniversary of the decriminalisation of homosexuality.

Now in its 12th year, charities such as Schools OUT UK are using it as an opportunity to tackle homophobic and transphobic language and bullying in schools, as well as bringing attention to overlooked figures from LGBT history. However, there are plenty of other ways you can get involved in London. There is a countrywide LGBT History festival called 'OUTing The Past' taking place during

- Lesbian
 - Gay
 - Bisexual
 - Trans
 - History
 - Month
- SCHOOLS OUT^{UK}

the weekends of February, with talks, theatre productions and presentations at historic locations, at Royal Museums Greenwich (7th), National Archive (11th), Imperial War Museum (18th), Victoria & Albert Museum (10th) and British Museum (19th). Other events include the Unnatural Acts LGBT+ Festival, to be held at the multi-arts venue, Omnibus, in Clapham, from Feb 6th-11th, which includes theatre productions, short-film showings, and exhibitions. There are a multitude of other events being held all over the capital, from cabaret shows to book launches. For further information and listings, visit lgbthistorymonth.org.uk.
